

PSF 2023 Terms of Use Policy

About the Professional Standards Framework

The Professional Standards Framework for teaching and supporting learning in higher education (“PSF”) is developed by Advance HE and endorsed by Guild HE and Universities UK (“UUK”).

The PSF provides a general description of teaching and supporting learning professional practice within the HE environment. It is written from the perspective of the practitioner and outlines a framework for comprehensively recognising and benchmarking teaching and learning support roles within higher education. Its central purpose is to enhance the learning experience of higher education students, by improving the quality of teaching and learning support.

The PSF provides staff engaged in delivery of teaching and learning support in higher education with a framework to guide their initial and continuing professional development. The PSF can be used to inform institutional staff development programmes to facilitate individuals in gaining formal recognition for quality-enhanced approaches to the practice of teaching and supporting learning. Advance HE supports and guides both institutions and individuals as they engage with the PSF to continually develop their practice.

In addition to the PSF, Advance HE makes available associated documents and materials on its digital platforms (these include the website, virtual learning environment and Advance HE Connect) and include but are not limited to, guidance documents, reports, support materials, digital resources and PowerPoint presentations (“Associated Materials”).

Aims of this Policy

The PSF has been developed through extensive collaborative research and sector consultation from across the world. Advance HE is keen to encourage the use of the PSF within higher education. The aim of the PSF Terms of Use Policy (the “Policy”) is to ensure:

- the PSF is used consistently across higher education and interested parties benefit from the well-researched and robust nature of the PSF;
- the integrity of the PSF and any Associated Materials are protected;
- the PSF is transferrable between higher education institutions and other organisations, so that individuals can use it throughout their professional development;
- institutions are able to receive high quality support with the interpretation, adoption and implementation of the PSF;
- the PSF is protected from inappropriate and unauthorised use.
