Preparing for Holiness – Rabbi Josh Harris

The opening section of this week's parsha is well known to us as the Torah reading for Yom Kippur morning, as it details the unique Avodah (sacrificial service) of the Kohen Gadol on Yom Kippur. The Gemara in Yoma 2a teaches us that seven days prior to Yom Kippur, the Kohen Gadol was placed in isolation. There is a disagreement between Reish Lakish and Rabbi Yochanan, two second generation Amorites, regarding the reason for this seclusion. According to Rabbi Yochanan, the rule is derived from the precedent of the inauguration of the Mishkan where Aaron and his sons were separated from their families for seven days. Disagreeing with Rabbi Yochanan, Reish Lakish maintains that the Kohen Gadol must spend time alone, in isolation, because a person cannot enter the presence of God without first being isolated. This precedent is derived from Moshe, who waited six days before ascending Har Sinai. [The Torah writes in Shemot 24:16, "The Presence of Hashem abode on Mount Sinai, and the cloud hid it for six days. On the seventh day [God] called to Moses from the midst of the cloud."]

According to Rabbi Yochanan, the purpose of the seven-day period is to impart holiness to the Kohen Gadol above and beyond his normal status. Rav Soloveitchik explains that by mimicking the actions of Aaron and his sons before the inauguration of the Mishkan, the Kohen Gadol spends the seven-day period elevating his level of Kedusha (holiness) until he is the virtual personification of Aaron himself.

According to Reish Lakish, the purpose of the sequester is not to elevate the personal status of the Kohen Gadol; it is a prerequisite to grant license for the Kohen Gadol to enter the Holy of Holies on Yom Kippur through introspection and self-examination.

Both Rabbi Yochanan and Reish Lakish are teaching us a tremendous lesson about how to approach moments of Kedusha in our own lives. To quote Rav Soloveitchik again, "אין קדושה בלי הכנה – There is no holiness without preparation." We can't expect to arrive upon holy moments without an ounce of preparation and then gain what we desire from the holy experience. For example, the emphasis which is placed on spending time to prepare for Shabbat is to ensure we don't fall into Shabbat without a moment's preparation and that we can fully benefit from the spiritual wonders Shabbat has to offer.

We currently find ourselves in the time period of Sefirat Haomer, the seven-week countdown to Shavuot. It comes as no surprise that we are mandated to undergo a seven-week transformation period before we reach the climax of Kedusha, the giving of the Torah on Shavuot. The seven weeks of Sefirat Hamoer are required to reflect the thinking of both Rabbi Yochanan and Reish Lakish. While we prepare for Shavuot through meditation and introspection, ensuring we are granted permission to spend the day of Shavuot in the presence of Hashem, we must also take time to grow on our own spiritual journey, elevating our own personal status to ensure we are worthy of receiving the Torah on Shavuot.

SING TO WIN

The Kinloss Children's Choir (Years 3-6) and raffle is BACK!

To mark the time period between Yom Haatzmaut and Yom Yerushalayim, the Years 3-6 Children's Services will be learning to sing the chorus of the Mi Shebeirach for the Israeli soldiers, with the aim of performing the song in the Main Shul and Minyan at the end of the services on Shabbat 1st June (the Shabbat before Yom Yerushalayim).

It would be lovely to have as many children as possible join the children's services on Shabbat 11th, 18th and 25th May, when they'll be learning the song, so they're ready to join the choir on 1st June.

Each week your child attends the service from May 11 - June 1, they'll be entered in to a raffle prize draw. So if they come for all four weeks, that's four raffle entries! A form will be sent out after each Shabbat on the KYC WhatsApp group which can be used to enter the raffle.

If they can't attend for all three weeks, they can practice at home too ...
