

FAQs – Bluebell Walk and Cycle Ride 2017

Are there ID or minimum age requirements to enter the event?

No, the only requirement is that anyone under 16 years old is accompanied by an adult.

What are my transport/parking options for getting to and from the event?

Although there are buses, your best bet is to drive or get a lift to the Whitwell Car Park (and back home again). There should be plenty of parking available

What can I bring to the event?

As well as the walk and cycle ride, Rutland water is a lovely place to explore or simply spend some time. There is room to kick a ball around and some BBQ stands if you want to cook your own meal during the day, but open fires are not allowed on the grass

Can I bring my dog?

Pets are welcome, but please make sure you keep them under control (as there will be lots of people around, including small children)

What about buggies and pushchairs and wheelchairs?

If the weather has been wet, some of the paths will be muddy. And there is one part of the path back from the bluebells which is steep and may be difficult to manage in a wheelchair without someone pushing from behind.

How can I contact the organiser with any questions?

The easiest option for us is if you email Bluebell.walk.ride@gmail.com as we have a group of people monitoring this. But you can telephone 07434731970 as well if email is not possible.

Can I update my registration information?

Yes you can - if for example you need another T-shirt. But don't worry about making changes to numbers attending, as we will check this when you arrive on the day (as we realise that a lot of attendees will have IBD and could simply be too ill on the day)

Is it ok if the name on my registration doesn't match the person who attends?

Please make sure you remember which name you used to register as this is the only name we will have for your group.

I tried to register, but registration ended on 27 April - can I still come?

We need time to print out all the paperwork for the day, so online registrations close early. But we are sure there will be room for you if you come to our registration tent on the day.
