ABOUT ME

Simon has been the Business Director of Engine Lubricants for Large Engines (Marine, Power Generation and Railroad) since 2017; responsible for the long-term vision, market development strategies, advocacy and implementation of region-specific business plans. He joined Lubrizol in 2003 in Product Management, later becoming Regional Business Director and also served as a Lubrizol UK Ethics leader 2016-2020.

Prior to Lubrizol he held a variety of Business and Marketing management roles. He is a Chartered Marketer and Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM), holding post graduate qualifications in Marketing (DipM) and Supply Management (BPICS)

Simon is passionate about trying to give back to the local community by helping and supporting Bemrose School and all its pupils realise the full range of post 16 academic/career options open to them, inspiring ambition and aligning their potential with employability skills and behaviours.

WHAT IS THE ROLE OF AN ENTERPRISE ADVISER?

An Enterprise Adviser (EA) volunteers with a secondary school or college to support them in the development and implementation of their careers strategy ensuring all students are prepared and inspired for the fast-changing world of work.

Working with the Careers Leader and wider senior leaders of the school or college, EAs help to build connections between employers and education to improve young people's career prospects.

Enterprise Advisers provide valuable employer perspective to the Careers Leaders, as well as supporting the integration of careers in the school or college's wider curriculum, putting opportunities with local employers at the heart of a young person's education.
