Neuro Hub

The hub aims to simplify the process of accessing services that cater to the specific needs of children and young individuals, ensuring that parents and carers can access relevant support quickly and easily. The advice and support offered by the hub are centred around the key areas of need identified by parents - early help and guidance on matters such as eating, sleeping, communicating, environmental factors, and emotional regulation. They provide assistance regarding broader needs such as housing, financial advice, and employment support in collaboration with other service providers. Users of the hub will not require a formal diagnosis in order to access the support they need.

Repair Café

Opening times: 3rd Saturday of the month 10.00am until 1.00pm but 'last orders' by 12.15pm please!

Transition Chesterfield has been running Repair Cafés since 2016. This is what we do:

Repairing broken or damaged items can save time and money! Items can be put back into use and given an extended lifespan. This way we also send less waste to landfill and use up fewer resources when replacement items don't need to be bought. Watching and, where possible, taking part in a repair helps you develop your skills and become more confident in repairing damaged items yourself. Less waste! Less pollution! Less money!

Advising on how best to use your belongings, particularly electronic devices, can mean you take full advantage of all their options and services, thus saving you time and effort. Our fixers can often show you how to maintain your items, so they last longer. We also advise on how to dispose of them when they cannot be repaired.

Data collecting. We collect information on the items people bring to keep track of our repairs, but also so that this can be fed into a larger database and used to campaign for access to repair information and spare parts
