Advice on recent developments - HSE, furloughing, reopening of workplaces and HR

Please find below the link to our HR advisor at Business Clan's blog, which provides a one-stop shop for employers and businesses with regard to all the HSE and government guidance regarding the extension of furlough, re-opening of workplaces and the associated HR implications. This will be regularly updated as guidance continues to emerge, so a regular review is recommended (please refresh the browser when logging back in, to ensure that the most updated version is open).
