WOMEN'S NIGHT SAFETY CHARTER

London is a safe city. But as recent events have shown, many women do not feel safe in our city. This is a worrying situation. It shows there is still much work to be done and it is incumbent on all of us to take steps to make change happen.

That is why the Women's Night Safety Charter was launched. It provides an important opportunity for organisations, businesses and venues to show their commitment to women's safety and take practical steps to make London a city where all women feel confident and welcome at night.

The Charter consists of seven pledges that signatories commit to undertaking, the first of which is to nominate a person within the organisation who can be a champion. All signatories have access to a specially designed toolkit which offers simple ideas, inspiration, information and resources to help organisations meet the seven pledges.

I invite you to join the 400 organisations who have already signed up to the charter. You can do so at <https://www.london.gov.uk/what-we-do/arts-and-culture/24-hour-london/womens-night-safety-charter>.

Best wishes,
