1. Accessing Primary Care

1.1 Can I still have a GP appointment? How should I book my appointment with the GP Practice? What is my GP Practice doing to prevent the spread of coronavirus?

GP practices across Sussex have transformed the way they work to ensure local patients remain safe and get the care they need during the Covid-19 pandemic.

With the safety of patients and practice staff a priority, new measures have been introduced through the creation of dedicated sites and areas within some practices, for anyone with Covid-19 symptoms to be seen safely.

Those who feel they need GP appointments are being asked to contact their surgeries as normal, and not to arrive at the practice unless specifically being told to do so following an initial assessment by a suitably trained clinician.

Patients will be asked to give an accurate and detailed description of their symptoms and this will allow them to receive the most appropriate treatment.

Patients may not be seen at their usual surgery, and following their assessment will be directed to a specific site locally to best deal with their health needs in the safest way, with local GPs changing the way they provide care.

Any patient with Covid-19 symptoms will be given an appointment at a so called 'hot site' rather than their own practice. These are formed by a group of practices coming together and identifying a single dedicated site to offer patients from their practices face-to-face consultation following their assessment.

Some GPs will be seeing patients without symptoms and patients with Covid-19 symptoms who will be separated into special zones, so that they are kept isolated from other patients. This will be undertaken in a safe way for patients and staff, and includes the introduction of dedicated hot consultation rooms, with separate entrances and exits to maintain isolation.

Existing GP premises will also be dedicated for treatment of those without any Covid-19 symptoms or acute illness, to allow their management in a way that minimises risk of contact with any potentially ill patients. Patients will be screened for any fever or cough symptoms, so only those who are considered well can enter. The facility will be arranged to maintain social distancing measures and limit patient number on site at any one time.

Infection control measures set by government experts will be followed at all sites and residents can be reassured of their safety, even when they are close to any site seeing patients with Covid-19 symptoms. At a minimum a daily, a full deep clean will be completed at each hot site, including disinfection.

GP Practices are making alternative arrangements to ensure these patients from the deaf community, people with learning disabilities, those whose first language is not English, and anyone without access to a telephone can access appointments.

1.2. Are clinics still running in GP Practices?

Yes, the majority of essential clinics such as blood taking, wound dressing and baby and child immunisations are still running but you should check with your GP Practice in the first instance.

1.3 I need to register as a patient at a GP Practice, can I still do this?

Yes, anyone can register at a GP Practice as long as:

- it has capacity to take on new patients
- you live within the practice boundary

Practices will continue to register all patients, including those with no fixed address, asylum seekers, refugees and those who do not have photo identification.

GP Practices are making arrangements so that those seeking to register with a practice do not have to go in physically. For example, you may be asked to send in an application via post or electronically. If a GP Practice conducts online registration, you may be asked to apply online. Please check with the individual GP Practice.

1.4 I use British Sign Language (BSL), how do I access care?

Sussex NHS Commissioners have implemented a Video Relay Service (VRS) for telephone appointments in every GP Practice.

Updated on 7th May 2020

This means mean d/Deaf patients across Sussex will now be able to call their registered practice for free, using the standard telephone number, speak with receptionists and book a telephone appointment with a GP, just as a hearing person can.

An NHS 111 British Sign Language (BSL) Service is also available. This is a free service where a BSL interpreter telephones an NHS 111 adviser and relays their conversation with them. Details of this service will be included below this video. Where possible, interpreters will be sourced for GP appointments.

1.5 My GP Practice are only doing appointments via telephone, doesn't this go against the Equality Act (2010)?

A number of GP Practices are seeking to limit the booking of appointments to telephone only to reduce the spread of infection. This change affects a number of patient groups.

Practices have a legal responsibility not to discriminate and to provide appropriate methods of communication. GP Practices are being asked to ensure that they explain to patients how they can access appointments.

2. Community Support

2.1 I have suspected coronavirus symptoms, what support will I receive from the NHS?

People self-isolating with suspected coronavirus symptoms will also get regular check-ins from a new NHS 111 online messaging service launched on Saturday 4th April 2020. Once individuals have been through the online assessment, daily texts will be sent to those who have registered their Covid-19 symptoms and left contact details.

Depending on the duration of their isolation, the daily messages will check how people are and ensure that those who need help to get them through that period, receive it.

2.2 What is a Community Hub, and how can I request support for myself or on behalf of someone else?

Community Hubs have been launched in each Local Authority area across Sussex, and offer additional help in coping with coronavirus.

The Community Hubs will focus their help on people who do not have an extreme medical condition but may be vulnerable because they are isolated from help, too unwell to buy food or have other pressing difficulties because of coronavirus. Community Hubs also provide a place for people to find out about volunteering opportunities.

You request support yourself or on behalf of someone else using the details below:

2.3 How can I volunteer to support my community?

The NHS Volunteer Responders Programme has been set up to support the NHS and the care sector during the COVID-19 outbreak. NHS Volunteer Responders can be called on to do simple but vital tasks such as:

- delivering medicines from pharmacies;
- driving patients to appointments;
- bringing them home from hospital;
- or making regular phone calls to check on people isolating at home.

Recruitment to this scheme has temporarily paused to process the initial 750,000 applications. Further information will follow shortly.

In the meantime, you can read more about the scheme via the NHS Volunteer Responders FAQs online here.

Updated on 7th May 2020

ID checks will be carried out for all volunteers. Patient transport drivers will need an enhanced DBS check and will receive additional guidance. Volunteers will receive guidance, including on social distancing rules to ensure the group being asked to shield themselves is protected.

People who have been advised to shield themselves from the coronavirus can now self-refer to the NHS Volunteer Responder Programme via telephone (0808 196 3646) or online by clicking on this link.

The scheme can also now support people with cognitive impairments and significant vulnerabilities.

If you are a health professional, NHS England has produced guidance on how to make referrals for volunteer support. Click here to access the information.

2.4 I have been asked to provide an isolation note, what is it and how do I get one?

An isolation note provides proof that you have Covid-19 or are advised to stay at home.

Isolation notes will provide employees with evidence for their employers that they have been advised to self-isolate due to coronavirus, either because they have symptoms or they live with someone who has symptoms, and so cannot work.

For the first seven days off work, employees can self-certify so they don't need any evidence for their employer. After that, employers may ask for evidence of sickness absence. Where this is related to having symptoms of coronavirus or living with someone who has symptoms, the isolation note can be used to provide evidence of the advice to self-isolate.

You request an isolation note by visiting NHS 111 online, rather than visiting a doctor.

After answering a few questions, an isolation note will be emailed to the individual. If they don't have an email address, they can have the note sent to a trusted family member or friend, or directly to their employer. The service can also be used to generate an isolation note on behalf of someone else.

2.5 How do I provide a fit note (sick note) for symptoms not related to COVID-19?

A fit note must be signed by a doctor, but you do not always need to see a GP in person to get one.

It depends on:

- why you're off work sick
- whether a GP needs to assess you face to face

Updated on 7th May 2020

- if you have been in hospital

"Fit note" is the informal name for a Statement of Fitness for Work. Find out more about when you need a fit note.

If you need a fit note, contact your GP practice. They will tell you whether you should make an appointment to see a GP or book a phone/online consultation.

A GP can give you a fit note on the day they assess you or at any time after the assessment, if appropriate.

2.6 Are there plans for unpaid carers to be issued with PPE?

Currently there are no national plans or directives for CCGs or other organisations to issue unpaid carers with PPE. The current national system for PPE distribution is for Care Quality Commission (CQC) registered providers and those organisations that would usually access supplies via the NHS Supply chain.

2.7 I want to support the hospitals through donations, how can I go about doing this?

Our NHS staff would like to thank everyone in the local community for their support.

Hospitals across Sussex have received many kind of offers: for personal protective equipment (PPE), home-made scrubs, gifts of food and other donations.

Our hospitals currently have adequate access to supplies of PPE. However, local councils are appealing for donations. These is being coordinated across Sussex by the Sussex Resilience Forum who ensure that PPE is shared across all health and care settings where organisations experience shortages. They have been asking for gloves, aprons or other protective equipment – click here to read more.

For hospitals in Sussex, donations of gifts and other support are being managed by each hospital's charity. You can find the contact details for these on each hospital's website.

It is important that everyone stays home to save lives and avoids unnecessary travel. Therefore, please do not visit any hospital site with donations without prior arrangement.

3. Community Pharmacies

3.1 Are all community pharmacies still open to the public?

Community Pharmacies are still open, although hours may be different to usual.

To check in advance to see when your local community pharmacy is open, click here, before setting out, and be aware that a pharmacy may have to close without notice if there is an emergency on-site.

3.2 Why do I have to queue outside the pharmacy? It looks very busy, are they coping?

A queue outside a pharmacy does not necessarily mean the pharmacy is struggling to cope.

Many pharmacies now have measures in place such as one-in-one-out of the premises, which is why you may see a queue of people outside, as social distancing and infection control measures have been put in place in pharmacies to protect staff and patients during these exceptional times.

Pharmacies do a lot more than dispense medicines. They offer health services that many of us aren't aware of, and as one of the few frontline NHS services still seeing and treating patients face-to-face, staff may be dealing with, and treating patients, who need medical help for non Covid-19 issues.

3.3 How do I get my repeat prescription?

Repeat prescriptions are still available as usual. It is important to only request your medicines when they are running low (e.g. one weeks supply left) as you usually would. Ordering medicines too early or ordering more than usual can lead to fewer medicines in the system and potentially, shortages for others.

Manufacturers, wholesalers and pharmacies are working hard to minimise medicine shortages as a result of COVID-19.

Patients are being encouraged to order their repeat prescriptions online directly from their GP practice via the practice website or through the NHS App wherever possible, which is supported by national policy (both pre-Covid and during Covid policy), or using Prescription Ordering Direct (POD) phone service, if this is available with their GP practice. This will speed up the process for repeat prescriptions to be issued.

It can take between 5 and 7 days from ordering a repeat prescription from a GP to it being ready to collect at the pharmacy. We urge all patients to plan in advance so that they don't run out.

3.4 I am on the 'Shielded' list, how do I receive my prescription?

People who are on the shielded patient list (formerly known as the vulnerable patient list) have been identified by the NHS as being at very high risk of severe illness from coronavirus (COVID-19) because of an underlying health condition, and for their family, friends and carers.

Everyone on the shielded list should have already received a letter, and a text message for those who have provided their mobile details to the NHS, with details on how to access support if needed. The letter is the important proof that the person is in the group who should practice social shielding.

Shielded patients should, in the first instance, ask friends, relatives, and neighbours to collect medicines for them. If this is not possible because friends, family and neighbours are vulnerable or isolating themselves, people should contact their local authority community hub to ask for a community volunteer to go to pharmacy to collect medicines for them (see the contact information for community hubs in Q5 below).

Patients who are being told they need to be shielded or believe they are at high risk should also register themselves on the gov.uk website if they need extra help and support.

Click here for more information if you are a shielded patient.

3.5 I'm not on the shielded list, but am still self-isolating / vulnerable so cannot get to a pharmacy to collect my prescription, what should I do?

If you are self-isolating or poorly and you are unable to leave your home, in the first instance, please ask friends, relatives, and neighbours to collect/pick up your medicines for you. If you are isolating, ask them to drop it off outside your door so that you can avoid close face-to-face contact.

However, if this is not possible because friends, family and neighbours are vulnerable or isolating themselves, you should contact your local authority community hub to ask for a community volunteer to go to pharmacy to collect/pick up medicines for you (see the list of contact information for the hubs below). Community pharmacies are extremely busy at the moment, so please contact your local council's community hub for support and avoid calling the pharmacy directly unless it's absolutely necessary.

If you are not on the shielded communities list, or you think you are but have not received the letter and need food and medication delivery, go to the Government website and register at: <https://www.gov.uk/coronavirus-extremely-vulnerable>. This will be shared with your GP. You can also email your GP to let them know you've registered. Please note that this is not an immediate service.

3.6 I am collecting a prescription for a friend, family member or neighbour – how do I do this in a safe way?

Before you start collecting and dropping-off medicines to patients' homes, it is important to understand how to undertake your tasks safely and effectively. This is key to protecting patient safety and confidentiality.

Top Tips for safely collecting and picking up prescriptions for a friend, family member or neighbour are below, and you can download a helpful poster created by Healthwatch and Community Pharmacy Surrey & Sussex here:

1. It may be safest to only collect for up to two patients at a time
2. Go to the right pharmacy
3. Know the name and address of the person you are collecting for. It may also save time in the pharmacy if you know what medicine(s) you are expecting
4. Please don't be offended if the pharmacist asks for ID or cannot hand over certain medicines. Please ensure you have appropriate ID with you, such as your driving licence or your letter of authority/volunteer ID from the District & Borough Council.
5. Ask the patient if they pay for their prescription – it's £9.15 per prescription item (they may be able to pay for the medication over the phone if the pharmacy offers this service, though not all do). If the patient doesn't pay, ask them which 'exemption' applies to them
6. Medicine deliveries must be completed on the same day you collected them from the pharmacy, and within the opening hours of pharmacy. Any medicines that cannot be delivered must be returned to the pharmacy that day; you must not store other peoples' medicines overnight in your own home or fridge.

7. Do not open the prescription package. If medicine packages split, or there's a breakage, call the pharmacy team immediately for their advice. It is likely you will have to return to the pharmacy in this situation.
8. Do not deliver the medicines to anyone other than the patient without patient consent
9. Where possible, place the medication on the doorstep, ring the bell / knock on the door and stand back to wait for an answer. REMEMBER: NEVER LEAVE MEDICATION UNATTENDED
10. When the door is answered, explain that you have a prescription to deliver and ask the person to confirm the name and address of the patient, to ensure you have the correct address and that the patient lives there
11. If a patient does not answer the door, please return the medicines back to the pharmacy; do not leave the medicines outside the house, with a neighbour or post the medicines through the letter box.
12. To avoid the potential for confusion, you must also complete all deliveries from a single pharmacy before picking up further prescriptions for delivery from another pharmacy
13. Some patients may have more than one package of medicines, check with the pharmacy the number of packages for each patient on collection and ensure that all bags of medicines are delivered.
14. Sometimes the pharmacy may not have all the medicines needed or the full quantity ordered on the prescription. When this happens, the pharmacy will issue an Owings Slip. It is important that you pass this Owings Slip onto the patient and advise them that these items will be delivered when the pharmacy has the items back in stock.
15. If you have concerns for a patient's wellbeing call the pharmacy team for assistance and guidance. In emergency situations dial 999
16. Avoid pharmacies if you are showing symptoms of COVID-19
17. Ask the pharmacist for advice if you are not sure about anything

For further information on how to safely collect prescriptions on behalf of someone who is self-isolating and unable to visit a pharmacy to collect their own prescription, download this handy 'workbook' that East Sussex County Council (ESCC) has developed, using CPSS information, for people volunteering to pick up medicines on behalf of friends, family and neighbours.

3.7 Can pharmacists prioritise processing the prescriptions of patients who are at a higher risk of catching COVID-19?

No, pharmacists are unable to do this. Community pharmacies are extremely busy at the moment and are trying their best to ensure all patients get the care they need.

4. Emergency & urgent care

4.1 Are Accident and Emergency (A&E) departments closed? What should I do if there is an emergency?

A&E departments are not closed and continue to be open to deal with genuine life-threatening emergencies, such as:

- loss of consciousness
- acute confused state and fits that are not stopping
- chest pain
- Broken bones
- severe bleeding that cannot be stopped
- severe allergic reactions
- severe burns or scalds
- stroke
- major trauma such as a road traffic accident

A&E is not an alternative to a GP appointment.

If you have a medical emergency and need an ambulance, you should continue to call 999. You can use the find nearest A&E here.

4.2 What should I do for urgent non-coronavirus medical queries?

Less severe injuries can be treated in urgent care centres or minor injuries units. Conditions that can be treated at an urgent treatment centre include:

- sprains and strains
- suspected broken limbs
- minor head injuries
- cuts and grazes
- bites and stings
- minor scalds and burns
- ear and throat infections
- skin infections and rashes
- eye problems
- coughs and colds
- feverish illness in adults
- feverish illness in children
- abdominal pain
- vomiting and diarrhoea

Updated on 7th May 2020

- emergency contraception

You can find your nearest urgent care centre or minor injuries unit here. Please check for any local changes before accessing this service.

Alternatively you can go to 111.nhs.uk or call 111, which will direct you to the best local service.

NHS workers, clinicians and other medical staff are working around the clock to ensure that everyone gets the care they need. The coronavirus pandemic is unprecedented and unplanned for, meaning that many emergency measures are being taken. Please be as patient as you can with staff - they are doing their best at a very difficult time.

4.3 What do I do if I have a dental emergency?

Since the Government announced social distancing measures to slow down the spread of COVID-19 all non-urgent dental activity has stopped. However, measures have been put in place so that people can get urgent dental treatment if needed.

To provide care for people with urgent and emergency dental problems thirty-six urgent dental care hubs have been put in place in the South East.

If you have a dental emergency, you should contact a dental practice for a telephone assessment to assess your dental needs. This could either be the dental practice you normally attend or you can search for an NHS practice nearest to your home address on the NHS website at www.nhs.uk. Out of usual surgery hours, you should call NHS111.

When calling the dental practice, you will be assessed so that you can be provided with the most appropriate care. This may include being prescribed medication for pain relief or to treat an infection or you may be referred to one of the urgent dental care hubs for treatment.

If you experience problems with accessing dental care which cannot be answered by the news item on our website, please email england.southeastdental@nhs.net and the relevant member of the dental team will answer.

5. Hospital care

5.1 What are the new hospital visiting restrictions?

The difficult, but essential, decision to restrict visiting throughout hospitals with immediate effect and until further notice has been made.

The only exceptional circumstances where one visitor – an immediate family member or carer – will be permitted to visit are listed below:

- The patient you wish to visit is receiving end-of-life care.
- You are the birthing partner accompanying a woman in labour.

Updated on 7th May 2020

- You are a parent or appropriate adult visiting your child.

Please contact the ward or department in advance to discuss appropriate arrangements.

Your health, safety and wellbeing, that of our patients, communities and individuals and teams across the organisation remain our absolute priority. Please find other ways of keeping in touch with your loved ones in hospital, like phone and video calls.

5.2 Will I still be referred to the hospital if my GP thinks I need it?

Yes, your GP will still refer you; however, many of the referrals will be held until the pressure on the NHS lessens. All referrals will be looked at by a clinician and reviewed for urgency. You should hear directly from the hospital about your appointment; you do not need to go back to your GP unless your condition deteriorates.

The exception to this our Musculoskeletal (bone and joint) services, who are not taking new referrals to the service, unless urgent; in this case patients may be offered a phone assessment as a first step.

5.3 If I am worried I might have cancer, would I still be referred to the hospital?

You should contact your GP immediately with any worrying symptoms; if your GP is concerned, you will be referred to hospital, and should be seen within two weeks.

5.4. Can I still access Patient Transport services?

Non-emergency Patient Transport services are still operating. If you qualify for this service, Sussex patients' first journey must be booked by a healthcare professional or by calling the Central Booking Line using the below details:

- Central Booking Line 0300 123 9841 between 07:00 – 20:00 Monday to Saturday (08:00 – 17:00 Sundays and Bank Holidays)
- Patient Transport Service Cancellation Line 0300 790 0143 available 24/7 365 days a year

You can access further information about Patient Transport online here.

6. Maternity Services

Maternity service users across Sussex have been sharing their queries and concerns with their local Maternity Voices Partnerships and Healthwatch representatives. Maternity Voices Partnerships (MVPs) are committees made up of health care professionals, maternity service users and third sector organisations and they are working closely together to facilitate communications, incorporating the latest clinical guidance, but also reflecting local service user questions and concerns. Some of the answers to these FAQs vary locally so we recommend you go to your local hospital's social media account or website for the latest information, but below is a selection of FAQs we have seen to date relating to maternity services at Brighton and Sussex University Hospitals NHS Trust (BSUH, East Sussex Healthcare NHS Trust (ESHT) and Western Sussex Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust (WSHFT):

6.1 Are antenatal appointments happening as normal?

There are several changes, with some appointments not going ahead and others being undertaken by phone or video conference. There are some which remain face to face to enable a physical examination and blood tests to be taken. Please see your local Trust website or ask your midwife for further information.

6.2 Can I bring someone with me when I attend a scan?

Unfortunately, in order to observe social distancing guidance, only those who are pregnant are able to attend scan appointments. However, your partner/ friend/ family member can wait in the car park so that you have someone close by. They can be invited in to be with you at the end of the scan in the event of you receiving difficult news.

6.3 What should I do if I'm worried about my baby's movements?

Your midwife is there to answer any questions and support you with any concerns. Please don't hesitate to contact them. Top tip: if you haven't eaten anything for a while, have something substantial to eat and a cold drink and then lie down on your left side with your hands on your tummy. If your baby's movements aren't as you would expect, please contact your midwife.

6.4 Can I have a home birth in Sussex?

Unfortunately two of the Trusts in Sussex (Western Sussex Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and East Sussex Healthcare NHS Trust) have made the difficult decision to temporarily suspend home birth services, however midwifery led care in a 'home from home' environment is available at those hospitals. This is being kept regularly under review and any changes to this situation will be communicated via your local hospital.

6.5 Are there any changes in the hospital as a result of Coronavirus?

Most hospitals have green and red zones. The maternity wards and clinics are within the green zones. Your local Trust will have uploaded a film on their website or social media account to show you a virtual tour of the hospital, including what staff will look like in their PPE. Other maternity service users have found these really helpful; as one new parent said this week, "I know we cannot see the smiles behind the masks, but we can tell you're smiling".

6.6 Will I be tested for Covid-19?

Guidance is changing regularly and it is likely that this will shortly be happening for all those admitted to the hospital as an inpatient so please check your local Trust website or ask your midwife for further information.

6.7 Can my partner accompany me if I am in labour?

Unfortunately it will not be possible for your partner to stay with you whilst you are attending the antenatal clinic or postnatal ward due to social distancing guidance. One birth partner, who is free of Covid-19 symptoms, can join you once you are in active labour and have moved to the labour ward as you will then be in a single room. Further information about when you are in active labour and how long your partner can stay with you after the birth can be found on the Trust's websites. Your birth partner can attend the hospital with you and wait outside of the Triage area until you are in active labour. Once you have been assessed, you can sit outside of the ward with your birth partner, if you wish to do so, until you are in active labour. Your birthing partner cannot be swapped for another family member or friend during labour.

6.8 Can my partner accompany me for my C-birth?

You are advised that for a pre-booked C-section, you should come alone initially. Your birth partner can attend the hospital with you and wait outside of the Triage area until you are called down to Theatre. Once you have been checked in, you can sit outside of the ward with your birth partner, if you wish to do so, until you are called down to Theatre or you can wait on the ward and your partner can join you when the C-section is due to start (the staff will help ensure your partner is notified in time)

6.9 Can I have visitors whilst I am on the postnatal ward?

Visiting restrictions are in place as a result of Coronavirus – please see your local Trust website or ask your midwife for further information. Each Trust is prioritising discharge so that you can go home as quickly as it is safe for you and the baby to do so after you have given birth.

6.10 Can I breastfeed if I have Covid-19?

Yes, evidence suggests it is unlikely that Covid-19 would be transmitted through breastfeeding. It is still appropriate to implement hygiene measures, such as washing your hands regularly with soap and water and wearing a medical mask, if possible, to reduce the possibility of droplets with Covid-19 being spread to the infant. Feeding support is available virtually and by telephone from both midwives and health visitors.

6.11 Where can I find out about local support groups?

Updated on 7th May 2020

Your midwife will be able to signpost you to local support groups, but your local Maternity Voices Partnership social media account may also provide some helpful pointers.

6.12 Where should I go for more information?

The Sussex Health and Care Partnership maternity service providers update their websites and social media accounts regularly:

<https://www.esht.nhs.uk/service/maternity/>
<https://www.facebook.com/conquestmaternityteam/>

We are aware that some of the Sussex population will be accessing their maternity care at Surrey and Sussex Healthcare NHS Trust and Maidstone Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust. They are also updating their websites regularly and further information can be found by following the links.

6.13 Where should I go if I have any other questions?

Please do contact your MVP as they will be happy to respond to any questions you may have or, if they don't have the answer, find it out on your behalf.

7. Mental Health and Wellbeing

7.1 I feel anxious, worried and lonely and want support with this, where should I access this support?

You might be worried about coronavirus (COVID-19) and how it could affect your life. NHS Every Mind Matters provides useful tips and suggestions on maintaining your mental wellbeing while staying at home such as staying connected with people, talking about your worries, and looking after your body.

You can read more about NHS Every Mind Matters by clicking this link here.

7.2 What additional local support is available for people needing urgent help with their mental health?

People across Sussex struggling with their mental health during the coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak are being offered additional telephone and crisis support to help them cope.

Sussex Partnership NHS Foundation Trust has expanded the Sussex Mental Healthline - 0300 5000 101 - to provide a 24/7 service to people needing urgent help with their mental health.

As well as crisis support it will provide psychological support to people who have general concerns about their mental health.

Registered clinicians are at the other end of the freephone number to provide help, support and advice to anyone who needs it, at any time of the day or night, regardless of their age or where they live in the county.

The team at the Sussex Mental Healthline can offer advice and support to callers who are experiencing a crisis in their mental health, and if needed they can refer them to one of five newly created urgent help hubs for assessment and treatment.

General advice about how to manage your mental health during the coronavirus outbreak is available at www.sussexpartnership.nhs.uk/coronavirus as well as through @withoutstigma on Twitter and on Facebook at www.facebook.com/SussexPartnership

7.3 Where can I get further support?

It is quite common to experience short-lived physical symptoms when your mood is low or anxious, for example:

- faster, irregular or more noticeable heartbeat
- feeling lightheaded and dizzy
- headaches
- chest pains or loss of appetite

It can be difficult to know what is causing these symptoms, but often people who experience them due to stress, anxiety or low mood find that they get worse when they focus on them. See advice from the NHS on managing the physical symptoms. If you are concerned about your physical symptoms, then do contact NHS 111 online.

For advice on coronavirus (COVID-19) and any symptoms see the NHS website. If you are experiencing stress, feelings of anxiety or low mood, you can use the NHS mental health and wellbeing advice website for self-assessment, audio guides and practical tools. Every Mind Matters also provides simple tips and advice to start taking better care of your mental health.

If you are still struggling after several weeks and it is affecting your daily life, please use NHS 111 online. If you have no internet access, you should call NHS 111.

In a medical emergency call 999. This is when someone is seriously ill or injured and their life is at risk. A mental health emergency should be taken as seriously as a physical health emergency.

8. Shielding and People at the Highest Clinical Risk from COVID-19

8.1 What is shielding?

Shielding is a measure to protect people who are clinically extremely vulnerable by minimising all interaction between those who are extremely vulnerable and others.

The UK Government is strongly advising people with serious underlying health conditions (listed below), which put them at very high risk of severe illness from coronavirus (COVID-19), to rigorously follow shielding measures in order to keep themselves safe:

1. Solid organ transplant recipients.
2. People with specific cancers:
 - people with cancer who are undergoing active chemotherapy
 - people with lung cancer who are undergoing radical radiotherapy
 - people with cancers of the blood or bone marrow such as leukaemia, lymphoma or myeloma who are at any stage of treatment
 - people having immunotherapy or other continuing antibody treatments for cancer
 - people having other targeted cancer treatments which can affect the immune system, such as protein kinase inhibitors or PARP inhibitors
 - people who have had bone marrow or stem cell transplants in the last 6 months, or who are still taking immunosuppression drugs
3. People with severe respiratory conditions including all cystic fibrosis, severe asthma and severe COPD.
4. People with rare diseases and inborn errors of metabolism that significantly increase the risk of infections (such as SCID, homozygous sickle cell).
5. People on immunosuppression therapies sufficient to significantly increase risk of infection.
6. Women who are pregnant with significant heart disease, congenital or acquired.

Shielding is for your personal protection. It is your choice to decide whether to follow the measures we advise. Individuals who have been given a prognosis of less than 6 months to live, and some others in special circumstances, could decide not to undertake shielding. This will be a deeply personal decision. We advise calling your GP or specialist to discuss this.

8.2 I think I should be considered as highest clinical risk, but I haven't received a letter. What should I do?

Most people that are within the highest clinical risk group have already received a letter through the post. However, we are aware that central records do not capture everybody in this group. The process for identifying additional people who meet the clinical criteria but have not been identified through the initial central process is continuing. People identified through this process will receive a letter shortly. This list is also being reviewed by GPs and hospital clinicians.

In the meantime, please continue to follow the social distancing guidance.

8.3 I live with a person who is 'shielding', but I am unable to socially distance from others because of my work (i.e. NHS, social care worker, education or other key worker), or the size/ layout of my home doesn't allow me to live separately from the vulnerable person who is shielding. What do I do?

If you live with someone who has been identified as being at highest clinical risk, you should read and familiarize yourself with the 'shielding' guidance below, and strictly follow social distancing guidance.

The rest of the household should support the person shielding to stay safe and stringently follow guidance on social distancing, reducing their contact outside the home. In your home, you should:

- minimise the time spent in shared spaces (kitchen, bathroom and sitting areas) and keep shared spaces well ventilated;
- aim to keep 2 metres (3 steps) away from others and encourage them to sleep in a different bed where possible;
- use separate towels from other people in the house and, if possible, use a separate bathroom from the rest of the household, or clean the bathroom after every use;
- avoid using the kitchen when others are present, take your meals back to your room to eat where possible, and ensure all kitchenware is cleaned thoroughly.

If the rest of your household are able to follow this guidance, there is no need for them to take the full protective measures to keep you safe.

All people who have a letter and have been identified at highest clinical risk should register for government support at <https://www.gov.uk/coronavirus-extremely-vulnerable>. Even if you do not require support at this time, please register with the site.

Please note that government support is only available to the individual who is at the highest clinical risk and has received a letter confirming this.

8.4 I have received a letter to say that I am at highest clinical risk, does this mean I will be de-prioritised for ventilation if I contract COVID-19 and require hospital care?

You were sent this letter to inform you that your condition, or the treatment/ medication you are receiving, means that you are at the highest clinical risk from COVID-19. The purpose of the letter is to draw your attention to the guidance issued by Public Health England regarding 'shielding' in order to keep you safe during this COVID-19 outbreak.

If you fall ill from COVID-19, or any other condition, and require treatment in hospital, you will still be treated as normal and will not be denied any medical intervention because you are in the 'shielded' group.

8.5 I have received a text message telling me that I am at highest clinical risk. How do I know if this text is real or a scam?

NHS Business Services Authority have sent out a number of text messages from the 'NHS coronavirus service'. Daily text messages were sent from 23 to 29 March from the same number - 07307 810357. If your text does not come from this number, please ignore it.

The first text should have looked like this:

8.6 I have more questions about people who are at the highest clinical risk from COVID-19?

NHS England has published guidance specifically relating to people defined by the United Kingdom's Chief Medical Officer as being extremely vulnerable to, or at the highest clinical risk from, COVID-19. You can read the information here.

9. Myths and misinformation

9.1 There is a lot of misinformation about coronavirus, how do I know what is correct?

A new GOV.UK WhatsApp Coronavirus Information Service has now been launched to combat the spread of misinformation. To use the service, members of the public simply add +44 7860 064422 to their contacts and send a WhatsApp message saying “Hi”.

9.2 Are homemade face masks effective?

The use of homemade and fabric masks is not recommended. Inappropriate use of facemasks and use of non-conforming products can lead to a greater risk of self-inoculation.

An effective face mask for use in healthcare must conform to British Safety Standards:

- Carry the CE mark
- Be certified as fluid repellent:
 - EN 14683 Type IIR performance ASTM F2100 level 2 or level 3 or equivalent;
Fluid resistance at minimum 120 mmHg pressure based on ASTM F1862-07, ISO 22609, or equivalent
Breathability: MIL–M-36945C, EN 14683 annex C, or equivalent Filtration efficiency: ASTM F2101, EN14683 annex B, or equivalent https://www.who.int/medical_devices/ppe_ebola_24nov_en.pdf

Masks must be disposed of when soiled/damp (approximately 20minutes) and immediately following close contact with a suspected or confirmed case of COVID-19.

9.3 Can 5G mobile networks spread COVID-19?

No, viruses cannot travel on radio waves/mobile networks. COVID-19 is spreading in many countries that do not have 5G mobile networks.

COVID-19 is spread through respiratory droplets when an infected person coughs, sneezes or speaks. People can also be infected by touching a contaminated surface and then their eyes, mouth or nose.

9.4 Now that we have warmer weather, are we protected from Covid-19?

You can catch COVID-19, no matter how sunny or hot the weather is. Countries with hot weather have reported cases of COVID-19. To protect yourself, make sure you clean your hands frequently and thoroughly and avoid touching your eyes, mouth, and nose.

9.5 Scam Texts – what to look out for Scam texts often include links or attachments which can't be trusted. Don't click on them.

Here's an example of a scam text, claiming to be sent by the Government, offering a payment related to the coronavirus. On the left is the text; on the right is the web page you'll be taken to if you click on the link in the text.

However, look at the URL – it does not link to the UK Government website. It is a fake website which requires you to enter your personal details – it is a phishing scam.

9.6 What Scams relating to Covid-19 have been discovered?

COVID-19 scams identified include:

Doorstep crime

- Criminals targeting older people on their doorstep and offering to do their shopping. Thieves take the money and do not return.
- Doorstep cleansing services that offer to clean drives and doorways to kill bacteria and help prevent the spread of the virus.

Online scams

- Email scams that trick people into opening malicious attachments, which put people at risk of identity theft with personal information, passwords, contacts and bank details at risk. Some of these emails have lured people to click on attachments by offering information about people in the local area who are affected by coronavirus.
- Fake online resources – such as false Coronavirus Maps – that deliver malware such as AZORult Trojan, an information stealing program which can infiltrate a variety of sensitive data. A prominent example that has deployed malware is 'corona-virus-map[dot]com'.

Refund scams

- Companies offering fake holiday refunds for individuals who have been forced to cancel their trips. People seeking refunds should also be wary of fake websites set up to claim holiday refunds.

Counterfeit goods

Updated on 7th May 2020

- Fake sanitisers, face masks and Covid19 swabbing kits sold online and door-to-door. These products can often be dangerous and unsafe. There are reports of some potentially harmful hand sanitiser containing glutaral (or glutaraldehyde), which was banned for human use in 2014.

Telephone scams

- As more people self-isolate at home there is an increasing risk that telephone scams will also rise, including criminals claiming to be your bank, mortgage lender or utility company.

Donation scams

- There have been reports of thieves extorting money from consumers by claiming they are collecting donations for a COVID-19 'vaccine'.

Loan sharks

- Illegal money lenders are expected to prey on people's financial hardship, lending money before charging extortionate interest rates and fees through threats and violence.

9. I think I have been “scammed” - what should I do?

If you or someone you know has been targeted by a scam you should report it to Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040. For advice and information on how to check if something might be a scam, visit:

<https://www.citizensadvice.org.uk/consumer/scams/check-if-something-might-be-a-scam/>.

10. Data Protection and coronavirus (Covid-19)

10.1 As an NHS patient, how is my data being managed during the coronavirus crisis?

Please be assured that the data of all NHS patients continues to be managed securely and in accordance with data protection law during this period of the coronavirus crisis. While a greater degree of legal data sharing and collection is permitted to help the Covid-19 response, the same strict rules that protect your privacy as a citizen continue to apply. These rules include collecting no more than the minimum amount of information required; not using the information collected for the Covid-19 response for unrelated purposes; ensuring appropriate safeguards are in place and keeping information only for as long as the outbreak is ongoing.

10.2 What additional sharing of patient data is taking place under Covid-19?

Additional sharing of two types of data is taking place: data from which patients can be identified and data in which patients remain anonymous.

10.3 What additional sharing of identifiable patient data is happening?

The sharing of data from which patients can be identified is being extended in three ways:

Sharing patient data for direct care purposes

As usual, health and care organisations remain able to share information from your patient record without asking for your explicit consent where it is necessary in order to provide you with the direct care you need. Steps have been taken to enhance this sharing, and a comprehensive summary of patients' GP records is now available to other health and care services. This will ensure, for instance, that GP practices providing care to new patients when infection closes a nearby practice temporarily, or health and care professionals providing advice to people who contact NHS111, will have the information they need. Controls are in place to ensure that only those caring directly for patients have access.

Sharing patient data across health and care organisations to manage the Covid-19 outbreak

All health and care organisations, including the CCG, are required to share patient information with each other where it is necessary to help protect public health and manage the Covid-19 outbreak, for instance, to identify patients who may be in need of additional support. This is based on existing data protection laws which allow for such data sharing in a public health emergency. Only the data needed for the purpose may be shared, and all organisations must ensure that data remains secure in accordance with data protection law.

Shielded Patient List

In order to support vulnerable people during the health emergency, NHS Digital has used GP records to compile a list of patients most vulnerable to Covid-19, known as the Shielded Patient List. Patients can also identify themselves as needing to be added to this list. More information about how this list has been compiled and the organisations it is shared with can be found on the NHS Digital website.

10.4 And what additional sharing and collection of non-identifiable data is going on?

National Covid-19 data store

The NHS is developing a single, national store of data from across the health and care system to help manage the Covid-19 response. Part of this project provides NHS leaders and the Government with a live feed of aggregate statistics on hospitalisations, availability of critical care beds, ventilators, etc.

This data store uses information already collected at a national level by NHS England, NHS Improvement, Public Health England and NHS Digital, along with new data such as that on 999 calls and hospital capacity. It also includes data provided by patients themselves, and where you report to your care provider that you are experiencing Covid-19 symptoms they may need to collect specific data about you. All information remains fully under the control of the NHS and safeguarded in accordance with data protection legislation. Information will be retained for no longer than required to address the public health emergency.

Updated on 7th May 2020

Using patient data for research into Covid-19

As part of the NHS' response to Covid-19 a wide range of research projects are underway, looking into such matters as:

- Developing AI tools to assist in diagnosing and managing Covid-19 patients
- Identifying the effects and risks of different medical conditions and medications on Covid-19 infection
- Understanding the effect of Covid-19 on different patient groups
- Developing new treatments and vaccines.

Where research uses patient data without consent, strict statutory controls remain in place. These ensure that the data always remains under the control of the NHS, that anonymous data is used wherever possible and that identifiable data is only ever used in exceptional circumstances and always with stringent confidentiality safeguards.

10.5 My doctor has offered me a video consultation. Will this affect the confidentiality of my data?

During this period of emergency, your health care provider may offer you a consultation via telephone or video conferencing. By accepting the invitation and entering the consultation you are consenting to this. All systems authorised for use in this way are secure, and your personal information will be protected in the same way it would with any other consultation.

10.6 What data rights do I have in respect of data shared or collected for Covid-19 purposes?

Some of your usual rights in respect of your health data – to opt-out of its use for research purposes or to have data erased, for instance – will not generally apply to the data used to manage the Covid-19 response because of the public interest in sharing the information. You can still make, free of charge, subject access requests to individual health and care organisations to establish which information of yours they hold, where they obtained it from and with which organisations it has been shared. Given the additional pressures health and care organisations are facing at this time, it may take longer than usual for organisations to respond.

10.7 Can healthcare organisations contact individuals in relation to Covid-19 without having prior consent?

Updated on 7th May 2020

Yes. NHS organisations may use the contact details they have to send public health messages to you, either by phone, text message or email. Individuals included on the Shielded Patient List should in particular expect to be contacted in this way.

10.8 What happens if an IG breach takes place?

All processing of patient data continues to be required to comply with GDPR and data protection legislation. All health and care organisations that process your personal data are required to monitor and report any breaches of data protection legislation and these will be investigated in the usual way.

10.9 Where I find further information?

The CCG has provided additional information on their websites:

- Privacy Notice (Brighton and Hove),
- Privacy Notice (East Sussex)
- Privacy Notice (West Sussex)

about how your personal data may be shared and processed differently during the Covid-19 pandemic period. Please contact the CCG's IG Team ([SXCCG.IG@nhs.net](mailto: SXCCG.IG@nhs.net)) or your health care provider (e.g. hospital or GP) directly if you require any further information.

11. Tell us about your experiences and let us know what you need!
