27. Duty of Care

- 27.1 All IHPs acknowledge that their primary duty of care is to the patients to which they are charged. Safeguarding of patients and effective reporting of adverse incidents is an integral part of patient care. An IHP's duties to safeguard patients are required by professional regulators including the NMC, service regulators and supported in law.
- 27.2 In many cases the IHP will feel able to raise safeguarding concerns they may have with the manager or director of the Client location where they are performing their services under an Assignment or otherwise.
- 27.3 Florence directs IHPs to the "Raising concerns: Guidance for nurses and midwives" for information and guidance published by the NMC for further information and guidance in this area which includes details about the applicability or otherwise of legislation that may protect whistleblowers and information on organisations that IHPs can go to for advice.
- 27.4 Florence's designated Whistleblowing and Safeguarding Officer is Dr Charles Armitage (charles@florenceapp.co.uk).
- 27.5 In the event of a perceived safeguarding emergency we recommend the IHP should contact the emergency services.
