Resort information

La Rosiere is a traditional, chalet style resort, with gentle pistes down into the village. As one of the smaller ski resorts in the Alps, most of the chalets are within easy reach of the slopes. There are a number of quaint restaurants serving classic Savoyarde food, while the small selection of bars are lively.

The resort is excellent for families, with a kids disco and lift pass deals for families with teenagers. This is a fantastic area to learn how to ski, with a great selection of green and blue runs as well as good progression from gentle blue slopes to easy red runs.

With slopes that cross over from France to Italy with the link between La Thuile, La Rosiere offers plenty of slopes. The area has heliskiing across the Italian border, and there are a few worthwhile black runs. A terrain park offers green, blue and red lines.

Getting there

The resort is an hour and forty five minutes from Geneva and Chambéry in good conditions, and two hours from Grenoble. This makes it an easily weekendable resort, with trains going to Bourg St Maurice where you can catch a bus or taxi up to the resort.

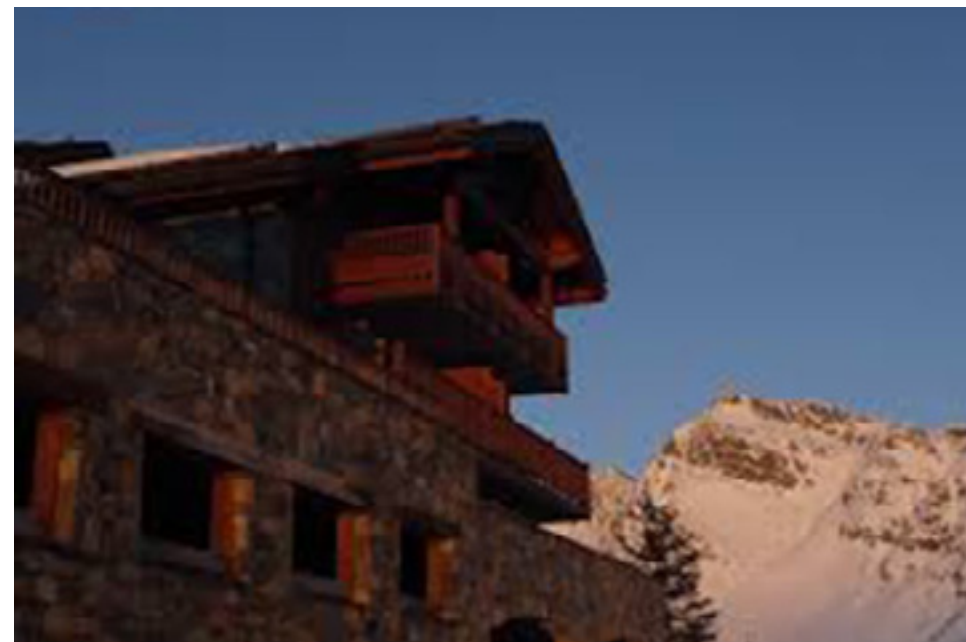

Restaurant: L'Estam

A cosy hidden gem, away from the main street in La Rosiere, this restaurant is an excellent place to get good, traditional food in a cosy Alpine retreat.

Booking is advised, because the restaurant can get very busy and there is only limited space. The decor is classic charming mountain style.

Activity: Starlight Stroll

This is a tour that runs from outside the tourist office every Sunday, throughout the season, where visitors to the area can explore the area by torchlight. The Starlight Stroll tells you how the resort has developed over the years, through fifty years of history.

Summer

La Rosiere is home to a host of excellent summer activities for all the family. With hiking, mountain biking, climbing and horse riding for those interested in more traditional Summer mountain pursuits, where you can enjoy the breath-taking scenery of the Tarantaise in the Summer.

The resort also offers paragliding, where you can enjoy an adrenaline filled ride across the valley enjoying stunning views. Particularly active types can get involved in canyon and white water sports, while there is a leisure park, tennis courts and golf course available for anyone interested.

With the charming, traditional village, La Rosiere is as pretty in Summer as it is in Winter. From the classic chalet style buildings to the medieval church, there is plenty to enjoy in La Rosiere in the Summer season.
