

TransferWise - Mobile Full Stack Developer

TransferWise is a VC-backed, international money transfer start-up co-founded by Skype's first employee and backed by some of planet's most experienced innovators, including Sir Richard Branson and PayPal founder Peter Thiel, we're disrupting the world of currency & international money transfer. That means flipping a gazillion dollar industry on its head using only real exchange rates and tiny non-hidden-fee. Headaches averted, revolution sparked.

Are you up to building a modern international financial institution from the ground up, but better than any of the existing global banks? We are looking for an Android Full Stack Developer to join our awesome team. As a Mobile Full Stack Developer you will have solid experience with the full stack of mobile technologies, from the native development through to the back end API work (either in the same role or throughout your career). You will be hands on within the technology and working towards making our product the best that it can be by solving the challenges that we face. However our flat organisational structure means you'll be someone who is unconcerned with titles and hierarchy. What really excites you is problem solving and delivering innovative technology and products that create happy customers.

Product engineers only

Here at TransferWise we don't hire coders, who pick up tickets from a backlog and push code to production.

We hire engineers that empathise with our customers problems, develop solutions and measure results. We're proud of engineering team - it's built an incredible product that's changing the world. They operate autonomously within their teams, focussing relentlessly on our customers.

Must haves:

- Passionate about technology as a lever to grow our business and improve the user experience
- Experience using a back-end MVC Framework in a dynamic language, preferably Groovy & Grails.
- Experience of working with or integrating with native Android or iOS
- Be a fan of Test Driven Development
- Possess empathy for the user and be able to build great code that drives fantastic user experience
- Strong communication skills and ability to articulate complex and technical concepts to non-technical audiences
- Excitement to work in a high-growth startup, being able to throw yourself fully into a revolution

Nice to haves:

- Be customer of TransferWise
- Experience with front-end frameworks and preprocessors e.g. jQuery, LESS, AngularJS
- Understanding of scrum and agile development

Benefits:

Apart from the all-expenses-paid company trips, stock options in one of Europe's most hotly tipped startups, a laptop and team lunches every Friday, you won't get much in the way of extras. However, we will give you 25 days holiday a year (plus public holidays), a fun, friendly atmosphere, plenty of opportunities to grow and the chance to be part of our little revolution. Oh, and coffee, there's plenty of coffee.

Some important stuff we would like you to know

To meet our Financial Trading standards TransferWise needs to take background checks on all new hires, which may include Criminal and Credit checks. Please discuss with the Recruiter if you have any concerns regarding this process.