THE ACTIVITIES

DYSKI KERNEWEK CORNISH LANGUAGE WORKSHOP

Have a go at learning some Kernewek and find out about our Celtic Cornish language. This will be workshop for complete beginners and by the end of the session you will be able to introduce yourself and mingle at a party in Cornish. The workshop will be led by Mark Trevethan who teaches Cornish classes in Truro and is the Cornish Language Lead at Cornwall Council.

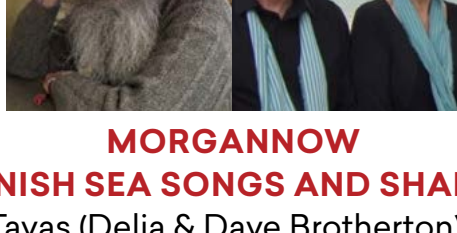

ST JUST TOWN TRAIL PLACES, PREACHING HOUSES AND CHAPELS

Take a trip back into West Cornwall's rich mining, methodist and celtic past. Come along to this trail of St Just to find out about how this mining district is one of the cradles of the Industrial Revolution and central to following the development of Cornish Methodism. This heritage walk will show you around places of interest in St Just and enrich your enjoyment and knowledge of this beautiful and historical area.

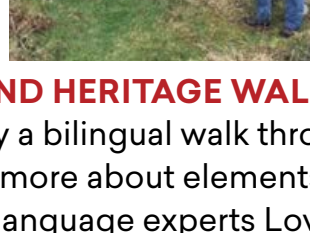

LEARN CORNISH DANCE WITH PENZANCE GUIZERS

Penzance Guizer dancer Helen Musser and musicians will lead you through a lively and enjoyable hour-long session on the basics of some Cornish dances. Come along to hear energetic live Cornish music and learn the traditional steps and dances of Cornwall. This session is for anyone, no prior dance experience needed - just enthusiasm to learn, a smile and a pair of hard soled shoes.

MORGANNOV CORNISH SEA SONGS AND SHANTIES

Come and join Tir ha Tavas (Delia & Dave Brotherton) and Matt Blewett for a lively session singing some well-known and much-loved Cornish songs - in Cornish! No previous experience required. Shanties and sea songs in Cornish can be accessed by absolute beginners as well as more experienced speakers because they are very repetitive. Workshop leaders will be singing along with you and the words will be displayed on a screen throughout, so there will be no need to learn them.

BILINGUAL CULTURE AND HERITAGE WALK OF THE ST JUST AREA

Troyl a-dro Pluwust - enjoy a bilingual walk through the ancient landscape around St Just and discover more about elements of Cornish life, place names and culture as our Cornish language experts Loveday Jenkin & Tony Phillips from the Penwith Landscape Partnership (Tirwedh Pennwydh) guide you through the centuries. The Penwith Landscape Project hopes to offer further opportunities to learn more about the Cornish language in the landscape over the Ordinalia festival period & beyond. cornish@penwithlandscape.com

CORNISH WRESTLING INTERACTIVE DEMONSTRATION

Cornish wrestling (Omdowl y'gan taves) is Cornwall's national sport and was an intrinsic part of the festivals where miracle plays were performed. The plen-an-gwari spaces, where the plays were often performed, have been frequent locations for wrestling tournaments over the centuries. Members of the Cornish Wrestling Association (founded in 1938) will be demonstrating some of the techniques involved in this ancient and very Cornish martial art and will talk through some of its fascinating history. If Covid-19 restrictions allow, it may be possible to 'have a go' in a safe and controlled fashion.

PLEN AN GWARI - HEART OF ST JUST A HISTORY OF THE PLAYING PLACE AND THE PLAYS

200 years before Shakespeare's Globe theatre, there would have been a Plen an Gwari in most towns in Cornwall, where Medieval mystery and miracle plays were performed in native Cornish by the local community. Now only two of these 'playing places' remain - St Just's Plen an Gwari is one of them. This talk delves into the remarkable history of our very own 'Plen' over the past 650 years to discover how it has survived and thrived in the heart of our town.

A VERY CORNISH CONCERT ENTRANCE FREE TO FESTIVAL TICKET HOLDERS

An evening of Cornish music, stories and culture held at the St Just Miner's Chapel in the heart of the town. See a variety of local acts including storytelling, live music and singing.
