MANAGEMENT TEAM

PHIL HOPKINS GROUP TRAVEL EDITOR & ARTS CORRESPONDENT

Phil spent the early part of his career in newspapers, training at the Yorkshire Evening Post before joining Trent Radio in the East Midlands as a reporter and producer. His media career continued at Yorkshire Television (ITN) where he produced a weekly arts show called What's On.

ANDREW PALMER GROUP EDITOR

Andrew is a former Yorkshire Post journalist having trained with ex Observer editor Donald Trelford at Sheffield University. He worked on a classical music programme for BBC Radio Essex and started a number of arts magazines as well as being the founder editor of the magazine Cathedral Music which he ran for 20 years. In a diverse career he first set out as a scientist, was a CEO and worked for the CBI running its Yorkshire & Humber office.

JAN HARRIS DEPUTY GROUP EDITOR

Jan has a wealth of experience in industry working in a communications role and previously running a recruitment consultancy. Jan understands the importance of using thought leadership content to promote campaigns and her distinctive style makes her ideal for writing many of the quirky and popular articles on a whole range of issues.

DR RICHARD TRINDER MANAGING EDITOR

Richard is the founder of the published media group. He has a strong background in delivering international IT projects - having been a CTO in California's Silicon Valley. Richard designed the underlying technology on which all the group's publications are based and continues to play an active part in the expansion of the group.

THE NOVEMBER FROSTY MOON

The full moon in the month of November is called the Beaver Moon or even the Frost Moon because in November the weather starts to turn chilly and frosts are common at this time of year. It will rise on Friday 19 November 2021 and gets the name of Beaver Moon because beavers build their winter dams in November in preparation for the cold season.

Taking A Natural Approach To Flood Management On The Road Network

The A576 Skelthorpe Road is one route to benefit from the pilot scheme

Farmers and landowners across three river catchments in Yorkshire and the North West are harnessing the power of nature in a pilot scheme to better protect the major road network from flooding. National Highways has awarded more than £420,000 to 13 Natural Flood Management projects in the first round of the project, covering parts of the Little Don, River Eborac and River Swale catchments.

'One Of The Greenest Things The Government Can Do Is To Keep Farmers Farming'

Image by Colin from Pixabay

Speakers at the Northern Farming Conference last week shone a spotlight on the impact of Brexit, the transition of agri-support schemes and the Covid-19 pandemic on UK farming and agriculture. The impressive line-up of speakers shared their views at Hotham Auction Mart on Wednesday, where 150 delegates - industry experts, farmers and politicians - gathered for the 11th instalment of the event.

DEACON BLUE – MAKING BLACKPOOL ROCK IN A CITY OF LOVE

The last time I visited the Blackpool Opera House was during lockdown in one of those virtual experiences where you watch the show on a screen in your own home. The audience was made up of images of itself, shown on TV screens placed on top of the seats in the stalls. It felt surreal, detached and soulless. It felt so good to be able to actually walk back into the Blackpool Opera House full of excited Deacon Blue fans. The...

IF PARADISE... ANDY FAIRWEATHER LOW & THE LOW RIDERS AT SETTLE seemingly at home in the...

Andy Fairweather Low's genial onstage persona does not dovetail neatly with expectation: his easy wit and endearing self-deprecation are entirely at odds with an illustrious career whose stepping stones en route have included Amen Corner and several successful solo ventures. Low's connections are the stuff of legend: he has accompanied Eric Clapton, George Harrison, Roger Waters, Linda Ronstadt and Emmylou Harris, and many others in various historical incarnations. And the irony was not lost on him;

Welcome aboard The Dirigible Balloon, the publication with lots and lots of poems for children!

The crew are busy organising a flight to remember, with new places to visit, different creatures to see and a sky load of fun and adventure as well. Written and read by poets from around the world, with a fresh batch uploaded every month, our poems will delight, intrigue and astound you.

Come have a look and prepare to lift off in The Dirigible Balloon!

The Dirigible Balloon

With our sandwiches packed and our bottles of juice,
under fluffy white clouds and the sun,
we all climb aboard
this balloon of delight
in a search for new places and fun.
With friends by our sides,
happy faces all round
and excitement in everyone's eyes,
our dirigible lifts
off the ground like a bird to adventure high up in blue skies ...

SPONSORSHIP

ETHOS

We are not a series of 'traditional' titles, preferring to eschew paid for 'advertising' in favour of a more dynamic approach based on 'sponsorship' opportunities.

It means we are not encumbered by the expectations of advertisers (because we don't have any!). There are no 'paid-for' articles and neither do we accept sponsored 'links'.

This creates a new type of autonomy. Our writers are truly independent and there are no tussles between the editorial and advertising teams, because the latter doesn't exist!

However, you CAN sponsor any number of our pages on a 'hands-off' basis meaning you get to be part of our amazing online newspapers but you can't influence editorial policy. That's the deal!

Oh, and by the way, we are honest and transparent. It's why we probably have one of the biggest editorial 'reaches' not only in the North, but outside London. We'd love you to be part of this remarkable success.

Kindly view our SPONSORSHIP PACKAGES on p.ublished.com

WHAT NEXT?

The Yorkshire Times launched in 2011, almost as a bet: we won the lottery! Now, we have a raft of online publications including, at the time of writing, four digital news and lifestyle papers.

People said it would never work. It has. An army of writers give us more editorial muscle than half of the newspapers in the North combined.

Now, we want to consolidate and then in the MEDIUM TERM we will expand into the East & West Midlands and further North into Southern Scotland. We won't do it? Just watch us!

In the LONGER TERM we will expand further South into the Home Counties and London.

Our ambition? To be the biggest 'regional national' in the UK. And we'll do it. Hope you decide to join us on the journey. We won't forget those who took a leap of faith while others watched!
