

Alcohol myth:

"I can save my units
for the weekend."

That's not a great idea! It's safest to drink no more than 14 units a week (about six pints of lager, or a bottle and a half of wine), and to spread your drinking over three or more days.

Debunk more myths.