

Boilerplate

Stasher launched in 2015 and is the world's first sharing economy solution to luggage storage. With 800 StashPoints in more than 150 cities across four continents, the intuitive, mobile-optimised web app offers a convenient way for travellers, day-trippers and cumbersome baggage carriers to drop their bags and enjoy the city they're in.

A fast-growing, award-winning UK start up founded by three university friends, over 150,000 bags have been 'stashed' to-date.

As well as giving people the opportunity to enjoy their day without having to drag cumbersome luggage, the enterprise is great for local businesses. The independent shops, hotels and venues that are signed up to the Stasher network earn revenue from every bag stashed, thereby providing them with an additional stream of income as well as footfall.

Never feel like your luggage is getting in the way of your holiday again, stash it and make the most of your time.