IWAM Psychometric Profiling

Success Factor Modelling

This outstanding award-winning NLP Master Practitioner training will challenge, motivate and inspire you to unlock your inner potential.

An intensive 16 day training programme over 8 months (can be taken as a modular programme over two years) fully accredited by the ANLP.

This training will challenge, provoke and refine your NLP Practitioner and Coaching skills and knowledge in a deep and powerful way. As well as the use of advanced NLP change techniques and linguistics, we will introduce you to the Unified Field Theory of NLP which will enable you to work more flexibly, intuitively and effectively with clients. This, combined with advanced NLP modelling tools will mean that you can model problems and create "designer" interventions.

With trainers from all major schools of NLP delivering advanced Master Practitioner NLP models and concepts, our world class trainers will also introduce you to some of the latest thinking in NLP change work and its applications in coaching.

Included in this course:

iWAM - The inventory of Work Attitude and Motivation

A key part of the NLP Master Practitioner is the exploration and application of Metaprogrammes. To enrich this learning experience all delegates will be invited to complete the iWAM profiling tool.

Unlike other tests, iWAM does not put people in boxes: each person has a unique fingerprint of motivational and attitudinal patterns. iWAM helps you to understand what motivates you and how to work effectively with others who have different preferences.

Success Factor Modelling - The Art of Creating Success

A key feature of this course is the Success Factor Modelling™ training. Success Factor Modelling was originally developed by Robert & John Dilts and is a set of tools, models and approaches to take new business ideas or personal passion projects from the idea stage through to launch.

During this 3-day training you will learn and discover critical success factors which enable individuals to live their dreams and at the same time develop and launch their project or new business idea. See website for additional information on this feature.

Your Journey to Mastery - The Hero's Journey

We use the metaphor of the Hero's Journey, based on universal myths and archetypes, as a blueprint for our own journey towards mastery as well as using it with others. We look at how it can act as a map for our own development and growth, as well as a resource for overcoming barriers. Understanding the process of the journey gives us valuable insights into our own psyche and those with whom we come into contact.

You will learn how to use the hero's journey as a powerful coaching tool – identifying your own “call to adventure”, overcoming resistance, acquiring resources, facing challenges and celebrating successes, as well as aligning your goals to a greater sense of purpose and direction.

Additional Student Support
