Importing and exporting your own word lists

You can import another user's list and amend it if you wish - the original remains unchanged.

If you both use the same computer/network, in the 'creating of your own list' screen, just click on the import button and select From another user.

To copy a list to a new computer/network (with Wordshark5), click on the Export button to create a new file (with an extension of .shw). This file can be taken to the new destination. Click on the Import button in the Add own word lists screen and select the From saved .shw files option, then browse for the file.
